PRES. BURTON
GIVES FINE TALKAT BOARD OF COMMERCE
FORUM TUESDAY NOON—LARGE CROWD OUT TO HEAR HIM.

Tuesday noon around 400 Ypsilanti citizens, comprising the Board of Commerce, members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and their ladies sat down to a fine banquet in the dining room of the Masonic temple, prepared by the ladies of the Eastern Star. The occasion was the first forum meeting of the series of eight to be put on by the Board of Commerce. After the diners had been seated at the tables, all joined in community singing, led by Carl Lindgren, of the Normal college. At the close of the dinner Hugh E. Van de Walker, as toastmaster, introduced President Marion L. Burton of the University of Michigan, who gave one of the finest addresses ever listened to by an audience in this city. He spoke in part as follows:

"Our schools and colleges have a gigantic task ahead. We must all take an interest in our boys and girls. No man is a man who has lost all of the boy out of him. In going about this country I am impressed with the confidence America has in education. Our public school can not do everything, however. There are many things that must be taught in the home and by the parents. There is a tendency today to criticize our schools, especially by certain eastern metropolitan papers. The first thing American schools should do is to teach and demand accuracy. We have been a pioneer people and in the habit of doing things hurriedly. We do not give enough time to our work. We also have a remarkable way of passing responsibility to other people. You cannot expect the public schools to lift themselves above American citizenship and American civilization. We must insist that whatever a boy or girl does in school must be done accurately, patiently and conscientiously. We must demand more quality and not more quantity. We must teach them how to concentrate. When we make education a test for quality rather than quantity we will be getting back to the right method. I question the method of entrance requirements to colleges and universities, where we say to one with 14 1/2 units of credit you lack half a unit of the required amount, you can not enter our university, but say to the other with 15 units, you can enter. The most serious vice in our system is superficiality. Some colleges handle their credits like cordwood. Then when we get a student we say you take four subjects, then we give you four examinations at the end of the semester. You pile that away and repeat the process eight times, and then you are educated. The European system is so tied up with our own that they must be settled together. We now have six million men out of work and two million more trying to get out of work. We have been teaching our boys and girls in the wrong way, it seems. If you would cut off the top of a student's head you would find upon examination that he has an idea in his head that the professor goes around with a wheelbarrow loaded with knowledge and just drops chunks of it into the student's head without any effort on the part of the student. Students must be taught to have active minds. You cannot learn anything by having someone throw something at you. We must teach them to get down and dig. We must teach our students the responsibility of grappling with modern problems. There must also be taught respect for law and order in our schools. There is too much disrespect today for these things. We must also make sure that our educational system inculcates integrity. What the world needs today is confidence. There is too much lack of confidence today. The farmer does not trust the city chap and the laboring man does not trust the capitalist. Neither does a Democrat trust a Republican. Just as other nations have confidence in America, so must there be an institution in our land that has the confidence of the people. That institution should be our schools and colleges."

ROTARIANS GIVEN MEMORY TEST.

Monday noon the Rotarians had the pleasure of hearing W. T. Orr, of Detroit, in his lecture on memory. Mr. Orr is an expert on the principles of mind concentration. He used a blackboard and gave two demonstrations, one with figures and the other with the names of towns. In both instances he called out the figures and the names of the towns with his back to the blackboard, remembering them as they were given by members of the club. When you take into consideration there were 15 of each it was some feat in memorizing.

Dr. and Mrs. D. T. Sundstrom, of Saginaw, attended the Ohio-Michigan game at Ann Arbor Saturday and spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Baxter, and family.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR
ORGANIZE HERENEW COMMANDERY WITH 54
CHARTER MEMBERS—DELE-GATIONS FROM JACKSON AND OTHER POINTS.

Monday, Oct. 24, was a red letter day in Ypsilanti. It was the occasion of the birth of Ypsilanti's new commandery Knights Templar, No. 54. In the afternoon the 3:30 car was met at the D. U. R. station by an escort of the Knights to welcome the large delegation from Jackson. In the neighborhood of 75 Knights came down from the prison town and were taken to the Normal field, where they put on one of the finest drills every witnessed in these parts. At the conclusion of the drill they returned to the Masonic temple, where officers of the grand commandery of the state of Michigan constituted the Ypsilanti commandery, and 54 charter members were placed on the roster of the newly organized commandery.

Adjournment was then taken to the dining room of the temple, where 200 sat down to a fine banquet, prepared and served by the ladies of the Eastern Star. At the conclusion of the banquet an hour was spent in social greetings, after which the lodge room was again visited and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Eminent Commander—M. M. Read.

Generalissimo—Dr. L. M. James
Captain Gen.—Fred L. Gallup.
Senior Warden—Charles R. Clark.

Junior Warden—W. N. Lister.
Prelate—Rev. Harvey Colburn.
Treasurer—H. R. Scovill.
Recorder—J. R. Dell.
Standard Bearer—W. C. Horner.
Sword Bearer—George B. Moorman.

Warden—George Geer.
Sentinel—George Dickson.
Guards—T. E. Schaible, Paul Ehnman and Frank Avery.
The officers were installed by the officers of the grand commandery, headed by Lyle G. Younglove, right eminent grand commander, who introduced one of the most beautiful pieces of lodge work ever shown in this city.

The Jackson delegation was headed by its band and Knights were here from Detroit, Jackson, and Ann Arbor, as well as individual Knights from other commanderies over the state. It was a fine sight to see this body of men in uniform on our streets, and one that will long be remembered by Ypsilanti.

TRAIN KILLS AGED WOMAN TUESDAY EVE

Mrs. Fannie Thurman, aged 76 years, wife of Chris Thurman, was instantly killed Tuesday evening by being hit by an east bound passenger train at the Forest avenue crossing. Witnesses say that the gates were down and that the deceased walked under the gates directly in front of the train. She wore a shawl over her head and it was said was a little hard of hearing.

Coroner Burchfield was notified and decided no inquest was necessary. The remains were taken to the undertaking establishment of J. E. Moore.

YPSILANTIANS IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Horn, of this city, were in an automobile accident on Warren avenue Sunday as they were on their way home from Detroit. Luckily they were not injured, but their car was somewhat damaged. The cause of the accident was when another car attempted to pass the car ahead at the same time Mr. Horn turned out to pass. The driver of the car saw that he could not make it and in attempting to get back into line hit the two cars, which caused it to swing and turn over. In the wrecked car were two men, a woman and two children. One of the men was thrown from the car and is thought to have received injuries that might prove fatal.

ARRAIGNED, CHARGE
ASSAULT AND BATTERY

George Cady, of Detroit, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Officers Dick Elliott and Carl Arnold and taken before Judge Stadtmiller, where he was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by James Thorn, his father-in-law. The latter accuses Cady of assaulting his daughter-in-law, and when Cady came to the home of Thorn in Augusta township Tuesday Thorn ordered him off. Cady refused to go and words led to blows.

Jack Collins, who was with Cady, acted as peacemaker when Cady was under in the fight, but Thorn says when he was under Collins did not interfere. Mrs. Thorn came to the rescue of her husband and stopped the fight. Cady pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Nov. 1. His bail was fixed at $200.

JOSEPH BENOIT DRAWS
$10.00 COURT FINE

Joseph Benoit was arrested Sunday evening by Officer Wm. Vay and lodged in the city jail Monday. He pleaded guilty before Judge Stadtmiller to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. When asked where he got his liquor Benoit stated that some unknown man came up and gave him a drink. "Do you expect me to believe that?" asked the court. Ten dollars or ten days was the sentence imposed. Benoit paid. "That will take me several days husking corn," he remarked as he left the courtroom.

COMMISSIONERS WORK ON CITY'S CHARTER

The charter commissioners met Tuesday evening to continue work on the proposed new charter to be voted on at the coming spring election. They have been meeting every Tuesday for several months and are making progress now on the charter.

KIWANIS HEARD HEMPHILL.

Robert Hemphill gave an interesting talk on Japan and its people Wednesday at the meeting of the Kiwanis club. He stated that the Japanese people never use chairs, but always squat, in sitting down on the floor. His description of a 34-course banquet lasting five hours eaten while squatting was both interesting and amusing. Coach McCullough of the Normal asked the Kiwanis club to aid in financing the Normal athletics. President Sullivan stated he would appoint a committee to help. Dr. H. B. Britton announced that Dr. Albert S. Warthin of the University of Michigan would give a free lecture on cancer next Tuesday evening, Nov. 1, at Pease auditorium.

WILLIS MAN TRAMPLED TO DEATH BY HEIFER

Citizens of Willis were shocked late Monday forenoon when it became known that one of their oldest and most respected citizens had met death by being trampled by one of his cattle.

About 4 o'clock James Wright and his little grandson, Earl, went into a pasture lot on the farm to look after a heifer and little calf. As they drew near she made a dive at them, and to save the boy, who was in advance, Mr. Wright stepped in front of him and was thrown to the ground by the charge of the infuriated beast and was so badly injured that he died within an hour.

The little grandson's cries for help were heard by Ella Potter, who called her father, James Potter, who with Robert Oelle and Darno Phelps went to Mr. Wright's rescue, took him to the house and a physician was immediately sent for, and on his arrival found that Mr. Wright had suffered a fracture of the ribs and back and was internally injured.

For the past few years Mr. and Mrs. Wright have lived with their adopted son, Harry Wright, on what is known as the Willis Potter place. He was 76 years of age and had lived within the vicinity of Willis the greater part of his life. He was a man that took great interest in the affairs of his neighborhood and was highly esteemed.

Later he changed his plea to guilty and Tuesday was sentenced to a term in Jackson prison from 12 to 24 years, with a recommendation of 12 years.

THE clever author of "The Wreckers" and other great railroad tales, has turned his attention to a different theme. It is of the West, matchless in its expression of the out-of-doors, with charming human types and an absorbing and fascinating wealth of incident. COMMENCEMENT
CLEARY COLLEGEHELD SATURDAY EVENING
AT THE COLLEGE—110
GRADUATES GIVEN
DIPLOMAS.

The commencement exercises of Cleary Business college were held Saturday evening at the college.

L. D. James, of Pennsylvania, one of the alumni of the college, gave an interesting address, "Your Part in Life's Program." He pointed out to the 110 graduates that were given diplomas that if they were to be successful in their business undertakings they must be filled with enthusiasm and hard work. Mrs. Dexter Gray and Prof. Carl Lindgren of the Normal sang. The college orchestra furnished music, led by Jesse Crandell.

Saturday evening at the M. E. church the annual banquet to the graduates, alumni and friends was given. Prof. P. R. Cleary was toastmaster. He thanked the members of the college faculty for their loyalty and also thanked the alumni for their loyalty to the institution.

The first toast was responded to by H. G. Schell, whose subject was "What's Next." The speaker is from Detroit, where he is a successful business man. He is past-president of the Commercial Teachers' club of Detroit. He said that what makes life interesting "is because we never know what is coming next."

Miss Miriam O. Barton, member of the faculty, gave an interesting talk on "That Plus." Carl Lindgren sang a group of songs, which were much appreciated. Miss Mildred J. Wallace, commercial teacher at Farmington, spoke on "The Class of 1921." She said: "There is no thrill equal to the thrill of successful achievement. There are times when one catches the thrill of others' achievements, and the class of 1921 feel that we will profit here tonight by mingling with you alumni who have been successful." L. A. Koepfgen, of Detroit, of the class of 1911, gave a toast on "The Start and the Finish." He said: "Floundering about is all right, as it may in many cases enable us to find out the kind of work or occupation for which we are adapted. There are two kinds of stupidity. One is natural and the other acquired. The first is rare but the second plentiful. Everyone should learn to have mental control. We should teach our children this virtue. After a man has made his fortune it is then that he should begin to live and enjoy life and make others happy."

BAPTIST CONVENTION

Ypsilanti Baptists, Miss Carrie Sly, Mrs. Jennie Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilber, Miss Josephine Clute, Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Bars, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Deake and Mrs. and Rev. Clarence S. Burns, have returned from attendance upon the Michigan Baptist state convention held with the First Baptist church of Pontiac, a church organized just 100 years ago and among the very first Protestant churches of the state.

The attendance was the largest ever registered at a state convention, and the afternoon and evening sessions were taken to the large M. E. church of the city, where Dr. R. H. Bready welcomed them with kindly words of fellowship and compliment, after the mayor of the city, F. D. Seeley, had offered the freedom of the city.

Speakers of renown were heard every day and among the finest of them was Dr. F. A. Agar, of New York, speaker and writer of many books, who had one hour each day of the meeting.

Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, president of the Northern Baptist convention, the first woman to be elected to the office of president of a denominational national organization, who is a niece of our Mrs. Clinton Barrett, 316 West Michigan avenue, Ypsilanti, thrilled the audience with her fine optimism and enthusiasm for the work of the great denomination which is feeling so strongly the impetus of the great New World movement which is as yet but two years old. Resolutions touching loyalty to President Warren G. Harding and his cabinet, enthusiasm for disarmament, in Armistice day celebration and in loyalty to the Anti-saloon league in its plans for the enforcement of the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment were adopted.

Grant M. Hudson is general director for the coming year. R. E. Jennings, of Paw Paw, is the new president of the convention, and Jackson's six Baptist churches invite the convention to meet with them next year.

BOARDING WITH ONE'S WIFE

Remarkable Plan Adopted by Shrewd Jersey Man May Have Something to Recommend It.

The story of the seventy-five-year-old Jersey man who has just renewed a nine-year signed contract to board with his wife (her age is forty-five) at a fixed figure, and not to speak to her unless the house is burning down, stirs in old-timers' minds the refrain of a favorite song of Sol Smith Russell:

Oh, Old like to know
 Who runs this show?
 Is it me or Flannigan, the lodger?

But, really, there isn't any lodger in the Jersey case, nor any "star-boarder," but the husband. The children are grown up. Three sons support the mother. If the aged father pays his board, he has no further responsibilities. And he has still a good job and is content. Also his wife is content.

Our reasonable guess is that she is a mighty good housekeeper, observes the Brooklyn Eagle. Nine years with no complaint possible, without contract-breaking, and a renewal at the end of the term is excellent evidence of that. There are no flies on her coffee and none in it. The steak is broiled and not fried. The bacon and chops are done to a turn. Even the hash must be eatable. Beds are properly aired and carefully made up. The boarder doesn't have to wait half an hour when he wants to take a bath. Hot water is available at all hours. Smoking in your room is permitted, probably encouraged.

Perhaps the habit of speaking to a wife, or having a wife speak to you has its disadvantages. It often develops acrimony, sometimes alimony. Every sociological experiment, such as the Jersey one, is entitled to be judged on its merits. The human race must live and learn by experimentation.

ROMAN RECORDS IN AFRICA

Discovery It is Believed Will Throw Much Light on Early History of the Empire.

A discovery which, it is claimed, will form one of the fundamental sources for a history of the Roman empire under Augustus has been made recently by Doctor Oliverio, an Italian savant in Cyrene, the ancient Greek colony in Africa, founded in the Seventh century.

A Morning Post correspondent, writing from Cyrene, says that excavations at Bengast—the ancient Berenice, which stood in the midst of the gardens of the Hesperides, near the mouth of the River Lethe—have resulted in the unearthing of a block of marble eight feet long, one face of which bears a flawless Greek inscription of over one hundred lines; the translation of a letter from Augustus on the government and administration of justice in Cydenaica, giving a wonderful insight into the financial and judicial conditions of the country at that time.

Other interesting finds are a sanctuary dedicated to Eastern divinities, probably of the time of Julian the Apostate, with a remarkably well-preserved black marble statue of an Egyptian goddess. An extensive Ptolemaic cemetery also has been located. At Apollonia, a Christian basilica of the Fifth century is being excavated, and at Merdj, the ancient Barce, some Coptic inscriptions have been found which are held to be of great importance when the history of the Arab conquest comes to be written.

Fight Plant Diseases.

While continual effort is being made to introduce promising new plants into the United States, the various branches of the Department of Agriculture are striving to avoid making additions to the imported insects and plant diseases that are already costing millions of dollars yearly. Foreign countries have listed several thousand insects of troublesome kind, with many plant diseases that are not yet included among these immigrants. Besides special quarantines and plant inspections the further precaution is being taken of restricting the numbers of the plants introduced and growing for a considerable time in greenhouses or under conditions of isolation, to make sure that all pests have been removed. After it is made certain that the plants are thoroughly freed from insects and diseases, they are propagated more extensively, and are distributed in the usual way to growers for experiment.

Aid for Struggling Authors.

Here is an item from the New York Globe of interest to impecunious writers: "It is not generally known that the Authors' league has a fund for authors who are in distress. Recently the league learned that a young woman who had won considerable distinction and prominence as a writer had through a series of misfortunes and through illness been reduced to dire distress. A representative called to see her and found her on the verge of a physical and nervous collapse, due to actual starvation. Immediate means were supplied her, and in order to give her an opportunity to regain her health and to get her back to her work a substantial amount was raised among the members to carry her through this period of enforced inactivity.

Noise Eliminated.

"You charge more for board than you did last summer."

"The place offers more rest and comfort," answered Farmer Cornotael. "There ain't any election for guests to sit up all night and argue about."

CLOTHES COUNT

Paths, both bridle and bridal, are full these days—from Golden Gate to Central and Prospect Parks. The Cockney groom, and the swagger groomsman hold the stage.

In park or pavilion, at town or country club, in the offices of successful men, you will find the best product of local custom tailors placed vainly in competition with the superior expression of Hirsh, Wickwire Clothes in fit, fabric and finish.

The reasons are simple. While the local tailor examines pictures in the fashion magazines, we import and study actual models from the world's leading fashion centers. He has genuine difficulty in obtaining the most skillful workmen, but we are located at the national centers, where the finest tailors in the craft concentrate.

Never a new and worthy model appears on Duke Street, the Place Vendome, or Fifth Avenue, but we know of it almost at once. What hope, then, has your local tailor of approaching the superiority inherent in Hirsh, Wickwire Clothes for gentlemen?

FACTS OF HISTORIC INTEREST

Revealed by Extensive Excavations on Sites of Revolutionary Camps in the Hudson Heights.

Three years of excavating on sites of Revolutionary camps in the Hudson Highlands, near West Point, has enabled a commission of the New York Historical society to establish interesting historical facts that have long been in dispute.

The chief source of information has been refuse heaps of the armed camps of Washington, and many facts have been learned merely from examining the burials in the old dumps. Examination of cooking utensils and cutlery, broken pottery and other imperishable articles has aided the commission. The buttons, still showing the insignia after a century and a half, show that ten Massachusetts regiments, five from Connecticut and one from Rhode Island, occupied the main fortress in the highlands. Buttons worn in one camp by Connecticut soldiers bore an imprint in honor of the birth of the French dauphin, showing that the soldiers were in camp after 1781.

Similar investigation on the sites of British camps show their troops lived in much more luxury than the men who won independence for America. Silver buckles, china, and much broken glass from rum containers tell the story of the invaders' rations. The Revolutionary troops used hand-forged forks, pewter spoons, and left no broken glass.

The excavations have also revealed the extent of certain fortifications, and forts have been discovered of which there was no record.

THIS RIDE A REAL THRILLER

Ascent by Elevator to Summit of Alpine Peak Worth Going Long Journey to Take.

For years one of the most thrilling incidents of a visit to the Alps has been the ascent of the Jungfrau on the cog-rail road that starts from Kleine Scheidegg, at an elevation of 6,711 feet and climbs the mountain-side at the startling grade of 25 per cent, or an angle of about 22 degrees, till it reaches Jungfraujoch, at an elevation of 11,330 feet.

In an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine it is told how it is now proposed to add to this wonderful experience in mountain climbing a still further thrill, by comparison with which the former will appear quite insipid. From the present end of the track the mountain soars another 2,206 feet to the summit at an elevation of 13,547 feet. By means of excavations and tunnels the track will be extended until it reaches a spot in the center of the conical summit directly below its highest point. From the end of this tunnel a shaft will be bored vertically to the summit itself, and in this shaft passenger elevators will be installed, so that Alpine mountaineers will end their long thrilling railroad climb with an elevator trip like an exaggerated ride to the top of the Woolworth building in New York city. The climber will find them landed at the extreme summit of one of the highest peaks in the Alps, with a view of a world of snow-clad, craggy mountain tops around them.

Use for Exhaust Gas.

At its point of issue from the cylinder the exhaust has a temperature of from 800 degrees to 1,000 degrees F., and consists almost entirely of carbon dioxide—a colorless and odorless gas. These properties make it suitable for carbonizing wood, that is to say, making charcoal, and it is now being utilized for that purpose in France. The hot gases are caused to traverse a specially constructed oven, in which the wood is suitably arranged, by which means the temperature of the wood is raised to about 500 degrees, which carbonizes without burning or igniting it. Many ovens of this type were installed during the war, in Algeria and Tunis, with the object of furnishing a substitute for anthracite coal, which was very scarce and dear, for use in enriching low-grade gas for motor purposes.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"Good Neighbors."

Mrs. Merriweather and her four small children lived in a little house in — street, where the neighbors were exceedingly friendly over the back fence, and made many back-door calls. Mrs. M. began to worry about the children and their surroundings as they grew older, and moved to another part of the town. Shortly after moving away Geraldine met one of the old neighbors who inquired as to how she liked her new home and the neighbors. Geraldine, being only seven and honest, replied:

"We like our new home all right, but we haven't any good neighbors now—they all stay home and mind their own business."—Indianapolis News.

Daniel Boone's Mark.

That Daniel Boone, famed Kentucky hunter, made an expedition into Wayne and Lincoln county during his career is the belief of a party of lumberjacks who recently discovered the name "D. Boone" chiseled in a large rock at the mouth of a cave on Ford fork of Four Mile creek, Lincoln county, near the Wayne line. The forms of the letters are said to correspond with the name of Boone which is found carved in the rocks of Kentucky. The rock bearing the name in Lincoln county is located in a remote and wild section.—Huntington (W. Va.) Advertiser.

ALMA COLLEGE TRIMS NORMALS

YPSI LOSES FIRST M. I. A. A.
TILT—ALMA VICTOR IN HARD BATTLE 7-0.

Ypsilanti Normal college team displayed their opponents in the first half but weakened in the second. Alma succeeded in getting a touchdown in the last few minutes of play.

Bill Foey, captain of the Ypsilanti team, won the toss and chose to defend the south goal, a strong south wind being in his favor. Rockwell received the kick and was downed on his 40-yard line. The teachers gained little ground and punted. Alma, after having little success at carrying the ball, also punted. Rockwell brought the ball to the 50-yard mark. The Normal backfield plunged the Almates' line for good gains. All through the first half the Ypsi team was in striking distance of the Alma goal. Short got away for a 25-yard gain and on Alma's 20-yard, when so tackled by two visiting players that the ball was knocked from his arms. An Alma player fell on the ball. This piece of hard luck undoubtedly cost the Normals a wonderful chance to score. Alma punted out of danger.

In the second quarter Short failed to kick a field goal by only a few inches.

In the second half Alma chose to kick to the home team. Ypsi lost her drive while Alma speeded up a bit. Late in the third quarter the Normals were held for downs, giving the ball to Alma on the Ypsi 45-yard line. The visitors, after completing a long forward pass, brought the ball to the 10-yard mark. With four downs to make 10 yards, the Almates failed to score. Williams punted out of danger.

In the fourth quarter both teams fought hard. In the last few minutes of play Alma completed two passes, giving her the ball on Ypsi's 15-yard line. After eight line smashes Alma succeeded in making a touchdown and kicked the goal.

Alma's ability to follow the ball and complete a few good forward passes helped considerably to win the game, while Ypsi was unable to take advantage of the breaks in the game, and Hanham, star right guard, was injured in the third quarter, caused Ypsi's defeat.

The game was marred by frequent penalties on both sides.

SAY FARM BUREAU IS HERE TO STAY

Farm bureau officials state that the Washtenaw County National Farm Bureau association is here to stay. Already several farmers have received loans from the association and all that have benefited are enthusiastic in their expressions of appreciation of the efforts in their behalf.

Several other loans are about to be completed. In addition to the original loans allowed the Washtenaw association the Federal Land bank has allowed five more loans. The association announced that anyone within the jurisdiction of Washtenaw county wishing a loan through its organization should call at the offices of the Farm bureau at once and receive information in regard to filing an application.

First applicants will be served first. The association has made this a rule. The first five applications will, in all probability be the ones to receive favorable consideration.—Ann Arbor Times News.

Get all you can --

That may sound as though we're telling you to be very selfish; what we mean is that when you pay out your money for clothes you ought to try to get all the value possible. It isn't selfishness—it's good sense.

Because we expect you to do that we give more than other stores, in quality, style and lower prices.

LUTHERAN ANNUAL MISSIONARY SERVICE

At the Lutheran church Sunday was held the annual missionary service of the congregation. In the morning the speakers were Rev.
H. J. Schneider, of Columbus, Ohio, secretary of the Foreign Missionary board, who gave an address at the German service, and Rev. H. Swenhardt, of Brighton, Mich., who preached at the English service.

In the evening Rev. H. J.
Schneider gave a very entertaining and instructive talk on India and its inhabitants, customs and worship. A large audience was present at all meetings and a goodly sum was received for the cause of missions, which will be divided between both home and foreign fields.

FARM BUREAU NOTES.

The Washtenaw County Farm Bureau has made arrangements for displaying some of the bed blankets, auto robes and suitings that are being manufactured for them by some of the leading woolen mills. These goods will be on display in Mayer-Schairer's show window on Main street in Ann Arbor. They are the occasion of many remarks from the city people, who are surprised in the quality and price of the goods that the Farm Bureau is having manufactured.

The annual meeting of the Washtenaw Farm Bureau will be held Nov. 17. Arrangements are being made for the holding of township meetings previous to this time for the selection of delegates. A special effort will be made to secure suggestions of members in the different township relating to the kind of work they think should be carried on during the coming season.

In the last monthly report of the secretary of the Michigan State Farm Bureau it is interesting to note that the overhead expenses of the state organization have been cut from $20,000 last February to $10,000 per month. Most of this overhead is now being absorbed by the business done in the different departments. Plans are now under consideration by the auditor to further reduce this overhead.

Checks are now being mailed in final settlement for the 1920 wool pool. About one-half of the 1921 wool pool has been sold and at the present movement settlement for this year's pool will likely be made some time during the first part of the year.

Since July 1 the Michigan State Farm Bureau seed department has shipped 984,461 pounds of all seeds.
Stock on hand Oct. 11 was 366,932 pounds. A new warehouse is being built and two new cleaning machines are being installed. This will enable the department to handle an enormous amount of business the coming season. Large quantities of clover seed are now being consigned and owners are accepting close to market value cash advance. The seed market seems to be improving; there is both a reduction in amount of home grown seed available as well as a possibility of a heavy import from foreign countries.

The Michigan Elevator Exchange is gaining ground every day. New accounts have been opened with some of the big eastern flour mills.
Oct. 5 they sold No. 2 red wheat at $1.16, track, Lansing. The best Toledo bid was $1.12. It also sold
No. 2 rye at 85 cents. The best state jobbers bid 81 1/2 cents, while the exporters offered 78 cents. The exchange sold standard timothy at $15.50 net to shippers, while the jobbers' average bid was $13.50. The grain jobbers are recognizing the strength of the exchange and are adopting a more friendly attitude.
In September the bean department shipped 65 carloads and 900 bags in L. C. A. lots.

The traffic department of the State Farm Bureau is busy working on the concession in freight rates, which if allowed will save the farmers thousands of dollars. It has taken care of many orders for refrigerator cars for Michigan members and has had considerable success with the placing of cars, tracing, securing stock bins, correcting grain and fertilizer rates, etc.

During September 85 cars of supplies were handled by the different farmers' co-operative organizations; also 69 L. C. L. shipments were distributed. Commodities handled included seed, fertilizer, salt, cement, tile and flour. During August 150 cars of fertilizer were distributed.
Spring fertilizer and spraying material requirements are now receiving attention.

Prof. R. Clyde Ford of the Normal college and Mrs. Ford will sail from New York city Dec. 21 for a six months' leave of absence, during which time the professor will visit the schools of France with a view of writing a book on the French school system.

A Few Queries We've All Asked

THE GIRL ON THE JOB

How to Succeed—How to Get Ahead—How to Make Good

By JESSIE ROBERTS

DO YOU WANT SUCCESS?

DO YOU want to make a success of your business life, or do you put that second to having a good time? Don't complain if you can't have both. The girl who runs around from party to party is not going to get to her work in the best state for doing it well. Her mind is not clear, her body is not alert. She is tired.

Are you willing to do the uninteresting part of your job well, or do you stir what you don't like in it? Every job has its grind side. But to succeed you must make that grind worth while by doing it well. It is part of the price you pay for success.

You must keep in good physical condition if you want success. You need proper rest, enough sleep and healthful food. You need exercise in the open air. Keeping fit is part of the price you must pay for success.

A number of girls regard an office as a sort of matrimonial bureau. Their first idea is to be fascinating to the male element. But if that is what you are after, don't say you want success in your business, and don't be surprised if you see other girls who do want success get advancement while you stay put.

Success is a big thing. The successful woman is not afraid of losing her job. She knows that her work is so good that an employer will be lucky to get her, or that, if she is in business for herself, she is sure of results. But success is not an accident.

SELECT BEST SEED POTATOES

Worth While to Secure Biggest and Finest Looking Specimens at Time of Digging.

In these days much thought is given to the selection of corn for next year's crop. And great improvement has been made in corn the past twenty years just because of this close selection. But the potato has been overlooked to a large extent. A selection of the biggest and finest looking potatoes at the time of digging, just the same as seed corn is selected at corn harvest, is worth while.

Ductless Glands in College.

Ductless glands, said to be responsible for epilepsy, feeble-mindedness, cancer and other diseases, will be the subject of special study at the University of Pennsylvania. A chair in endocrinology, the branch of medical science dealing with ductless glands, has been endowed at the university, and it is said to be the first ever established in the world.

Experiments will be conducted at the ear, eye, nose and throat hospitals of Philadelphia, the various clinics under control of the university medical school and other places.

So important do the physicians of the American Therapeutic society regard this step that the chairman of the society's council was instructed to appoint a committee to formulate a curriculum for the teaching of endocrinology to graduates and post-graduates in every medical school in the United States.

Comforting.

A Hoosier minister's wife was getting ready to go to the hospital for an operation. Her husband and children had been solicitous of her all day, everything around the house had been very quiet until late that evening, when she heard the seven-year-old twins quarreling. She asked her husband to see what it was about, and he summoned them into the room to give them a lecture on worrying their mother.

"It was all your fault, daddy," Flora retorted.

Floyd nodded his head and the minister asked what he had done. Imagine the feeling when Floyd replied: "Mr. Long said he didn't see where you would get another wife if mother died, and I said you would want Miss E. and Flora said you would want her Sunday school teacher because you called her your helping hand all the time."—Indianapolis News.

Stopped at Last.

As little Harry came in the back door, he was saying to himself, "Well, I got the best of him that time."

His mother happened to be in the kitchen. "Harry, have you and the neighbor boy been fighting again?" she asked.

Harry was quick to reply: "Not this time. You know when he was over here last week we made a kite and you made me let him take it home with him. Yesterday we made a birdhouse and he got to take it home. So today we dug holes and he didn't take them home with him."

Flights of the Future.

"Do you believe the automobile is the last word in transportation?"

"No," replied the far-sighted citizen. "Some of these days we are all going to wear wings outdoors and hang 'em up on the hatrack in the hall when we are not going anywhere in particular."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

BUSINESS OF VARIED RISKS

In Farming Weather Is Greatest Factor, Fluctuating Prices Rank Next in Order.

The farming business is one of many and varied risks. The weather is the greatest risk, weeds are another, fluctuating prices another, and yields per acre, as they affect the margin between cost and income often measure the amount of risk sustained.

Competition.

A young man from sunny Italy was testifying in the Cross county (Arkansas) circuit court in a case in which he was plaintiff, and, true to his race, was very excited and talking as fast as his knowledge of the English language would permit.

Looking down at the stenographer, he noticed for the first time that his testimony was being reduced to writing (the reporter was trying his best to keep up), and thereupon began to talk faster than ever, until finally he burst forth at the reporter:

"Don't writ-a so fas'; I can'ta keep up with you."

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"GUILLOTINE."

ACCORDING to history as it is popularly accepted, the instrument by which criminals are automatically beheaded was invented by Joseph Ignace Guillotine, who was also the first victim of the machine. Outside of the fact that Doctor Guillotine neither invented the apparatus nor perished by it, the general impression of the matter is fairly correct.

The original model for the guillotine was constructed by a German piano-maker named Schmitt, under the direction of Doctor Louis, a French surgeon, who in turn obtained his idea from the manaja, a somewhat similar instrument which had been used in the Latin countries for centuries. At first, the invention was known as the "Louisson," but, owing to the fact that Doctor Guillotine waged ceaseless warfare upon the barbarities of the rack and the wheel and continually urged the adoption of this more humane method of inflicting death penalty, his name was indelibly associated with it. On March 25, 1792, the national assembly passed the resolution recommending the use of the machine in all French prisons and it was publicly used a month later in the beheading of a prisoner named Pelissier.

Far from perishing by the invention, which, despite his protests, was called by his name, Doctor Guillotine died in his bed in 1814—having achieved a vicarious fame which he did not desire and to which he was not entitled.

Flowers Preserved in Ice.

A wreath of western Australian wild flowers recently arrived in England to be placed on the Unknown Warrior's grave in Westminster abbey. The wreath was frozen in a solid block of ice, and when the flowers were thawed they proved to be just as fresh as when they were gathered, in spite of their six weeks' journey through the tropics.

FROM a silver-spoon and soft-mattress existence, Stanford Broughton suddenly is confronted with the alternative of looking for a job or, another kind of quest, try and locate a mysterious legacy left him by an eccentric grandfather.

He does not know the character of the property, but the grandfather's directions say that it is somewhere between the 105th and 110th degrees of longitude west from Greenwich, and the 35th and 40th degrees north latitude.

When he finds it he will be able to identify it by the presence of a girl with brown hair and blue eyes, a small mole on her left shoulder, a piebald horse and a dog with a split face—half black and half white. He is game and he starts to look for the combination. The troubles he has in locating it and the adventures and dangers through which he passes in securing possession of the property, also the romantic incidents in which the girl is a figure, make up this very fascinating narrative.

It is Mr. Lynde's habit to tell stories like this, and there are readers in multitudes who would be sorry to have him depart from the custom.

COWPEAS SUCCEED ON ALL TYPES OF SOILS

Crop Is Adapted to About Same Conditions as Corn.

Withstands Considerable Degree of Drought, but Leaves Are Injured by Least Touch of Frost—Valuable in Orchards.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The cowpea is a warm-weather crop; therefore it has the greatest value in the southern states, gradually lessening northward. It is grown successfully, however, in the southern parts of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and New Jersey, and in parts of Michigan. In general, the cowpea is adapted to about the same climatic conditions as corn, but it requires somewhat more heat. It will withstand a considerable degree of drought, but under very dry conditions will produce only a moderate quantity of hay and a very small number of seeds, if any. Both in spring and in fall the leaves are injured by the least touch of frost, and a heavy frost is always fatal. The cowpea withstands moderate shade sufficiently well to be valuable in orchards. In heavy shade the plants are usually much attacked by mildew.

The cowpea succeeds on practically all types of soil. It does apparently quite as well on sandy soils as on heavy clays, but will do better than clover or alfalfa on thin soils or soils that are poor in lime. No other legume can be grown so successfully and on such a variety of soils under adverse conditions as the cowpea. A very rich soil is not conducive to the best results with this crop. On such a soil an abundant vine growth is produced, while the yield of grain is small. Poor soils will produce little growth of vine, but will generally yield a good proportion of seed. Clay soils will not produce a heavy yield the first year, but the crop will succeed much better the second season. It may be said that the cowpea will do best on good corn land, but will thrive on all types of soil that are well drained, properly inoculated, and moderately rich.

SEALING OF SILO IMPORTANT

Satisfactory Plan Is to Husk Ears From Last Few Loads, Tramp and Moisture Well.

Proper sealing of the silo is essential in reducing the amount of waste silage. An easy and satisfactory method is to husk the ears from the last three or four loads of corn that are to go into the silo, and run only the stalks and leaves through the cutter. When these last loads are tramped and soaked with 20 to 30 barrels of water, the top will be well sealed and there will be only a thin layer of waste. Moreover, there will be no ear corn in this waste, because it was husked out and made available for other purposes.

LIME SPREADER IS FAVORED

Machine Is More Efficacious in Securing Even Distribution of Material on Soil.

Lime should always be applied to the surface of the soil and harrowed in. This may be done in the fall, winter or spring, although many recommend that it be applied in the fall. When it is put on the land, however, is not so important as how it is done. It should never be plowed under because it is carried downward in the soil very rapidly, much of it is wasted and it is, therefore, less effective in neutralizing the acidity. Even distribution is, of course, desirable and for this reason a lime spreader should be used instead of attempting to distribute it by hand.

TWO MEN PAY FINES.

Earl W. Christner was arrested Thursday night by Chief of Police Connors and Officer Vay. Friday he was arraigned before Justice Stadtmiller on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He paid a fine of $50. Harry Regetz, who was with Christner, pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly and paid a fine of $10. The men stated they secured their liquor from an unknown bootlegger.

MOST SATISFACTORY ALFALFA FERTILIZER

Well-Rotted Barnyard Manure, Free From Weeds, Is Best.

It Gives Best Results If Applied to Soil Before Plowing in Order That It May Become Thoroughly Incorporated.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Well-rotted barnyard manure which is comparatively free from weeds is the most satisfactory fertilizer for fall-sown alfalfa, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. It should be spread on the land before plowing, in order that it may become thoroughly incorporated with the soil. Good results also follow from heavy applications to the preceding crop.

If the manure is not available, a liberal application of commercial fertilizers rich in phosphoric acid should be made. The percentage of nitrogen may be low, but some nitrogen should be supplied for the use of the young plants before they become inoculated and are able to secure their supply from the air. On most clay soils heavy applications of potash have not been profitable. A combination which has been commonly recommended is muriate of potash 75 to 100 pounds, acid phosphate 350 to 500 pounds, and nitrate of soda 50 to 75 pounds. The cheapest and most satisfactory method by which the consumer may obtain such combination is to purchase the desired ingredients and mix them himself in their proper proportions.

WHITEWASH RECIPE IS GOOD

One of Cheapest and Most Lasting Wood Coverings Is Quite Easy to Manufacture.

Government whitewash is one of the cheapest and most lasting wood coverings and protectors. It is simple to make. Take a half bushel of lime and slack with warm water, keeping it covered. Strain through cheesecloth, and add eight quarts of salt, previously dissolved in warm water. Next stir in three pounds of ground rice, boiled to a thin paste, and stirred in boiling hot. Then add a half pound of plaster of paris, previously dissolved with a pound of glue, over a slow fire. Last, five gallons of hot water. Stir thoroughly and let stand for three days. Apply while hot. An application to fences, trees and unpainted outbuildings will add $500 to the selling value of a farm, and sell it quicker.

CLEAN UP BARNYARD MANURE

Material Should Be Scattered on Fields to Permit Sun to Destroy All Insects.

Keep barnyard manure, especially if containing straw, cleaned up and scattered on the fields to permit the sun and drying to kill the maggots. Stack the straw; don't blow it out in an irregular loose pile. Build vertical slides. Keep middle well filled and tramp well. Clean up around the base of the stacks and scatter remnants. If it is certain that the straw will not be used for feed, spread it at once to be plowed under, or if that cannot be done, burn the stacks immediately.

GETTING POULTRY TO MARKET

Speed Was Once Considered Only Consideration—Handling and Refrigeration Added.

Speed was once the only consideration in getting poultry to market, but now to this has been added good handling and refrigeration, from start to finish. The time the produce would keep was so short that the whole course of marketing had to be rushed. Now it's a matter of maintaining even refrigeration.

GIVES AUTUMN PARTY.

Mrs. Louis Wolter delightfully entertained at an autumn party Friday evening. The house was artistically trimmed with black cats, witches and Halloween decorations. Fourteen guests were present. A dainty three-course luncheon was served.

CHANGES IN MAPS OF WORLD

Almost Impossible of Belief Has Been the Increase in Knowledge in the Christian Era.

Mapmakers are having a busy time in these days of ever-changing boundaries. Europe has regrouped itself, and the old map of our school days is wrong from top to bottom.

But what tremendous changes have taken place in the Christian era, a comparatively short time in the history of the world, observes a writer in Loudon Answers. The Roman's map of the world was the Middle sea—the Mediterranean—and the lands washed by its waves. To sail out of the Straits of Gibraltar—the Pillars of Hercules—was as great an adventure as being shot in a rocket to Mars would be today!

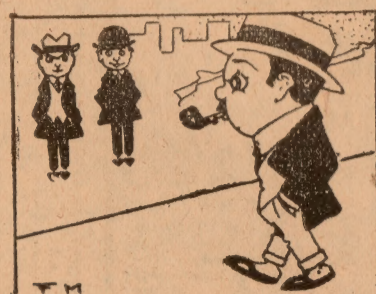

For another thousand years, after the decline of Rome, very little progress was made. India was a sort of fairyland, China—or Cathay—might have been in the moon, Russia and Siberia were wholly out of bounds. America was not dreamed of, no European ship had ever sailed on the Pacific ocean.

Then, quite suddenly, came the age of exploration. The Spanish and Portuguese navigators, followed by the great English adventurers, doubled the world's land area for the map makers. But even then the maps were fearful and wonderful. America was a piece of all guesswork. The greater part of Africa the same. Even Europe looked like nothing on earth, and where they were at a loss they drew fabulous beasts and birds to fill up the spaces.

Henry Miller left Monday evening for his home in Denver, Colo., after a short stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller.

The One-Ton Truck

The Ford One-Ton Truck first made its appeal to the farmer and the merchant because of the merits of Ford Cars. And it made its wonderful reputation and great sales record because it lived up to every claim made for it.

The Ford Motor, the special Ford steel chassis, the aluminum bronze worm-drive, all combine to produce a truck of unusual power, capacity and strength—a truck that lasts in service; a truck that solves the haulage problem at a very small operating and upkeep expense. Hence the demand for the Ford One-Ton Truck is constantly on the increase.

For the good of your business, whether it be farming, merchandising or manufacturing, you should come in and look over the Ford One-Ton Truck—NOW!

IMPORTANT

We are prepared to furnish the Ford Truck equipped either with Standard or Special Gearing. The Standard Gearing gives the truck a maximum of power. The Special Gearing increases the speed of the truck from five to seven miles an hour, converting it into a Fast Delivery Car.

DON'T SPEND UNWISELY.

"Don't spend recklessly, don't spend unwisely, but keep a part of your money in circulation," says John Wanamaker, owner of two of the greatest dry goods stores in America. He declares that instead of tightening up just at this time and cutting advertising appropriations, his stores are advertising heavier than they usually do, in the belief that the very best that can happen to this country will be to keep money circulating. Citizens of Ypsilanti can profit by this man's advice. They can well afford to pay their bills promptly so the other fellow can do the same thing; and with everybody meeting their bills we are sure to run along smoothly until good times, now known to be just around the corner, come back to stay. Dig up the dollar or two you owe the grocer, the butcher, the printer, or anybody else, and fork it over. He'll do the same thing. Maybe a dozen bills will be paid with that same dollar or two, and every time it will serve to hasten the arrival of the kind of prosperity we're hoping for.

We have a good many owing us for The Record—the money we want to put into circulation. Every dollar, Mr. Subscriber, you pay us we will promise faithfully to put right back into circulation—pass it along to the other fellow, so he can pay his bills.

Buyers today get more for their money than ever before. They not only get this price saving but they also get the New and Improved Essex.

This new car retains all the attractions of its forerunner. It is a smoother and finer car in many ways.

All must now recognize the Essex for its price advantage as they have recognized its quality.

RAILROADS PLAN TO GET RATES DOWN

Propose to Reduce Wages and Return All The Saving By Reduction in Charges.

FULL TEXT OF THE PROPOSAL

Statement by Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, Chairman of the Association of Railway Executives on the Situation.

Following a meeting in Chicago, October 14, 1921, of the presidents of nearly all the leading railroads in the country, Mr. Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, Chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, made the following statement:

At a meeting of the Association of Railway Executives today, it was determined by the railroads of the United States, to seek to bring about a reduction in rates, and as a means to that end to seek a reduction in present railroad wages which have compelled maintenance of the present rates.

An application will be made immediately to the United States Railroad Labor Board for a reduction in wages of train service employees sufficient to remove the remainder of the increases made by the Labor Board's decision of July 20, 1921 (which would involve a further reduction of approximately ten per cent) and for a reduction in the wages of all other classes of railroad labor to the going rate for such labor in several territories where the carriers operate.

To Reduce Rates As Wages Go Down.
The foregoing action is upon the understanding that concurrently with such reduction in wages the benefit of the reduction thus obtained shall, with the concurrence of the Interstate Commerce Commission be passed on to the public in reduction of existing railroad rates, except in so far as this reduction shall have been made in the meantime.

The managements have decided upon this course in view of their realization of the fact that the wheels of industrial activity have been closed down to a point which brings depression and distress to the entire public, and that something must be done to start them again in operation.

The situation which confronts the railroads is extremely critical. The railroads in 1920 realized a net railway operating income of about $62,000,000, upon a property investment of over $19,000,000,000 and even this amount of $62,000,000 included back mail pay for prior years received from the government of approximately $64,000,000. Thus showing, when the operations of that year alone are considered, an actual deficit before making any allowance for either interest or dividends.

The year ended in serious depression in all branches of industry and in marked reduction of the market demand for and the prices of basic commodities, resulting in a very serious falling off in the volume of traffic.

Roads Forced to Defer Maintenance.

In this situation, a policy of the most rigid economy and of postponing and cutting to the bone the upkeep of the properties was adopted by the railroads. This was at the price of neglecting and for the time deferring work which must hereafter and in the near future be done and paid for. This is illustrated by the fact that, as of September 15, 1921, over 16 per cent or 374,431 in number, of the freight cars of the carriers were in bad order and needing repairs, as against a normal of bad order cars of not more than 160,000. As is further illustrated by the deferred and inadequate maintenance of other equipment and of roadway and structures.

Even under those conditions, and with this large bill charged up against the future, which must soon be provided for and paid if the carriers are to perform successfully, their transportation duties, the result of operations for the first eight months of this year, the latest available figures, has been at a rate of net railway operating income, before providing for interest or dividends, amounting to only 2.6 per cent, per annum on the valuation of the carrier properties made by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the recent rate case, an amount not sufficient to pay the interest on their outstanding bonds.

Roads Earnings Far Below Reasonable Returns.

It is manifest, from this showing, that the rate of return of 5½ or 6 per cent for the first two years after March 1, 1920, fixed in the transportation act as a minimum reasonable return upon railroad investment, has not yet been even approximated—much less reached; and that the present high rates accordingly are not due to any statutory guarantee of earnings, for there is no such guarantee. In analyzing the expenses which have largely brought about this situation, it becomes evident that by far the largest contributing cause is the labor cost.

Today the railroads pay out to labor approximately 60c on the dollar they receive for transportation services. Whereas in 1916, 40c on the dollar went to labor.

On the first day of January, 1917, when the government took charge of wages through the Adamson Act, the labor cost of the railroads had not exceeded the sum of about $1,468,000,000 annually. In 1920, when government authority made the last wage increase, the labor cost of the railroads was about $3,698,000,000 annually, or, if continued throughout the year instead of for the eight months during which the wage increases were in effect the labor cost, on an annual basis, would have been largely in excess of $3,900,000,000, an increase, since the government took charge of railroad wages in the Adamson Act, of approximately $2,450,000,000 annually.

In the light of these figures, it is manifest that the recent reduction of wages authorized by the labor board, estimated at from 10 to 12 per cent in no sense meets or solves the problem of labor costs, and in no way makes it possible for the railroads to afford a reduction in their revenues.

Thousands of Rates Already Reduced.

Indeed, during the past year there have been between four and five thousand individual reductions in freight rates. On some railroads the reductions in rates have amounted to more than the reductions in wages so far made, and on many other railroads the reductions in wages allowed no net return on operations, but merely provided against the further accumulation of a deficit.

The point is often made that agriculture and other industries are also suffering the same immediate difficulties as the railroads. Why, therefore, do not the railroads take their medicine like anybody else? The answer lies in several facts:

1—The railroads were not permitted, as were other industries, to make charges during the years of prosperity, making possible the accumulation of a surplus to tide them over the present extreme adversity, according to the reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the rate of return on property investment of the railroads of the United States for past several years has been as follows:

RATE OF RETURN EARNED BY RAILROADS OF THE UNITED STATES ON THEIR PROPERTY INVESTMENT.

1912.....	4.84 Pct.
1913.....	5.15 Pct.
1914.....	4.17 Pct.
1915.....	4.20 Pct.
1916 (fiscal year).....	5.90 Pct.
1916 (calendar year).....	6.18 Pct.
1917.....	5.26 Pct.
1918.....	2.51 Pct.
1919.....	2.46 Pct.
1920.....	0.32 Pct.

It will thus be noted that during the years when other industries were making very large profits, when the prices of farm products and the wages of labor were soaring to unheard-of heights, the earnings upon railroad investment in the United States were held within very narrow limits and that they have during the past four years progressively declined.

Roads Handicapped More Than Other Business.

2—The railroads are responsible to the public for providing adequate transportation. Their charges are limited by public authority, and they are in very large respects (notably for labor) compelled to spend money on a basis fixed by public authority. The margin within which they are permitted to earn a return upon their investment or to offer inducements to attract new capital for extensions and betterments is extremely limited. However, much the railroads might desire, therefore, to reduce their charges in times of depression, it will be perceived that the limitations surrounding their action do not permit them to give effect to broad and elastic policies which might very properly govern other lines of business not thus restricted.

It has been urged upon the railroads that a reduction in rates will stimulate traffic and that increased traffic will protect the carriers from the loss incident to a reduction in rates. The railroad managements cannot disguise from themselves that this suggestion is merely conjectural and that an adverse result of the experiment would be disastrous not only to the railroads, but to the public, whose supreme need is adequate transportation.

Consequently the railroad managements cannot feel justified in placing these instrumentalities, so essential to the public welfare, at the hazard of such an experiment based solely upon such a conjecture.

Farmers Especially Need Lower Rates

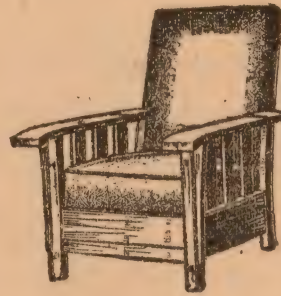

It is evident however, that existing transportation charges bear in many cases a disproportionate relationship to the prices at which commodities can be sold in the market and that existing labor and other costs of transportation thus imposed upon industry and agriculture generally a burden greater than they should bear. This is especially true of agriculture. The railroad managements are feeling sensitive to and sympathetic with the distressing situation and desire to do everything to assist in relieving it that is compatible with their duty to furnish the transportation which the public must have.

At the moment railroads in many cases are paying 40c an hour for unskilled labor when similar labor is working alongside the railroads and can easily be obtained by them at 20c an hour. The railroads of the country paid in 1920 a total of considerably over $1,300,000,000 to unskilled labor alone. However, desirable it may be to pay this or that schedule of wages, it is obvious that it cannot be paid out of railroad earnings unless the industries which use the railroads are capable of meeting such charges.

The railroads, and through them the people generally, are also hampered in their efforts to economize by a schedule of working rules and conditions now in force as a heritage from the period of federal control and upheld by the railroad labor board. These conditions are expensive, uneconomic and unnecessary from the point of view of railroad operation and extremely burdensome upon the public which pays the bill. This schedule of wages and of working conditions prevents the railroads from dealing equitably with their variety of local considerations which ought to control wages in different parts of the country. The railroads are seeking to have these rules and working conditions abrogated.

The railroads will seek a reduction in wages now proposed by first requesting the sanction of the Railroad Labor Board. The railroads will proceed with all possible dispatch, and as soon as the Railroad Labor Board shall have given its assent to the reduction of wages the general reduction in rates will be put into effect.

FEED LIBERALLY
WHILE MOLTING

Forcing Will Stop Egg Production Without Causing Resump-

FAT GIVES FEATHER GLOSS

Hens That Begin to Molt Early Do the Job Slowly and Are the Poorer Layers of the Flock—Hen Cafeteria Is Used.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Scarcely anything on the farm is more distressing to view than a lot of hens going into cold weather without enough feathers to keep them warm.
It is much like a man wearing a palm beach suit with snow on the ground, and trying to seem unconcerned about it, or the chap who leaves off his overcoat in zero weather to harden himself—so he says.

Forcing the Molt Unwise.

But there doesn't seem to be any help for the unhappy poultry minus their winter clothing. Much was said a few years ago about forcing the molting of hens, controlling it, and so arranging things generally that the hen would get back on the job of laying eggs with less delay. An experienced New York poultryman declared he had solved the problem by cutting down very materially the hens' rations for several days. This was followed by heavier feeding than ordinarily.
The menu, or the lack of it, stopped laying, and often resulted in molting it once.

The results were not so satisfactory as had been hoped. In many cases the hens did not finish the molt much, if any, quicker than if they had been let alone. It didn't seem possible by this means to control the time at which the hens could be brought back to laying. Egg production could be stopped all right, but it couldn't be resumed any earlier than usual, and sometimes it looked as if it had been stopped permanently. Obviously, this wouldn't do.

One of the chief attractions of poultry keeping is a constant supply of eggs, let the feathers fall when they may. So the United States Department of Agriculture doesn't advise any one to try systems that seem in conflict with nature, who seems to have a way of her own in such things.

Early Molters.

As a rule, hens that begin to molt early do the job slowly, and are the poorer layers of the flock, while those that molt late get through with it quickly, and are about the best layers. Usually it takes three or four months to complete the process of molting. A few are all through in two months. Some go at it gradually, as if they didn't like to attract attention, while others drop all the feathers
they have, or nearly all, at one time, and go about almost naked, with no regard for the proprieties. And while this is going on the hens lay few or no eggs. This is because the growth

The Fowl Molts Just When It Needs Feathers for Warmth.

of a new coat of feathers makes such a demand upon the body that it is out of the question for egg production to continue in any large degree.

The growth of feathers, like all other growth, calls for a plentiful supply of protein in the ration. Most poultry raisers, however, make no effort to feed a special ration at molting time, but continue to give the laying ration which the hens have been getting right along. This is good practice because a laying ration contains protein which goes into the forming of feathers, since egg production practically ceases when the molt begins.
Still, some poultrymen like to be sure there is a liberal supply of protein available for the hens during the mol-ting period.

Sunflower Seed in Favor.

Rations which contain a high percentage of fat have a tendency to give the feathers a high gloss. Sunflower seed, because of its fat content, is in favor among some poultrymen as a feed during the molting period, especially with birds which they wish to get into the best condition for exhibition.

The person with a bad stomach should be satisfied with nothing less than permanent, lasting relief.

DEER SEASON OPENS NOV. 10

TWENTY DAYS TO HUNT AND ONLY ONE DEER CAN BE KILLED UNDER THE NEW LAW.

The deer hunting season in Michigan opens officially Nov. 10 and closes Nov. 30. Ypsilanti hunters are already making their plans for their annual pilgrimage to the north woods in search of white-tailed deer. Every year several large hunting parties from this city make this trip. The Camp Newton parties are perhaps the largest. This camp is situated in the upper peninsula, near Seney.

Hunters this year can only kill one buck with horns visible at least three inches above the scalp. Last year the hunting season was only 10 days. This year it is 20 days. Last year during the 10 days, it is claimed, upwards of 30,000 deer were killed in Michigan, and there was something like 50,000 hunters in the Michigan Woods. The number killed this year will be watched with considerable interest and it is reasonable to predict that the number will fall far short of last year.

Every deer hunters' camp, regardless of how well it is organized, should observe a few simple rules:

(Never allow a loaded rifle inside the camp door. Unload your gun before coming in.)

(Never shoot at anything in the north woods in the deer hunting season unless you know what you are shooting at.)

(Never build a fire in the woods unless, when you have finished, you put it out.)

(Adopt a code of signals for your camp in the event any of your members should become lost. The following has been offered by the Northern Forest Protective Association:

Help—Four shots in quick succession, 0000.

Injured—Shot, pause, two quick shots, pause, shot, 0—00—0.

Lost—Three quick shots, pause, one shot, 000—0.

Man Found—One shot, pause, three quick shots, 0—000.

Call Heard—Two quick shots, pause, two quick shots, 00—00.

See that every member of your party carries this code in his pocket before starting out in the woods. It may save many regrets.

If you become lost and confused in the woods and can't believe your compass throw it away, sit down on the nearest log, build yourself a shelter, gather enough firewood for the night and use your code of signals at intervals. Don't waste your ammunition and don't, above all, wander around in a circle. Keep quiet, for it you have lost your sense of direction, bear in mind that those who are searching for you have not.

$138 CHARGED AGAINST WRIGHT.

A hearing was held Saturday before Justice Curtis in the case of Garth Beckington vs. Lewis Wright. Costs amounting to $138 were charged up against Wright for officers' fees and caring for stock and feed for same. The amount was reduced about $6. Beckington had attached certain property of Wright on a debt growing out of differences arising from a farm lease.

Miss Mae H'Lavin, of Ecorse, was home for the week-end.

Help your Moulters Moul

Moulting time is the time that a hen needs assistance. It is the off-season in the life of the hen.

Think of the amount of a hen's energy, vitality and red blood that's required to reproduce a thousand feathers (which is only an average plumage).

A moulting hen needs good health, good appetite and digestion. That's just what Poultry Pan-a-ce-a does for a moulting hen—gives her appetite and good digestion, so that she'll eat more and digest more.

Dr. Hess Poultry PAN-A-CE-A

Helps your poultry through the moult. And starts your pullets and moulted hens to laying.

It contains Tonics that produce appetite and good digestion—Tonics that tone up the dormant egg organs—Iron that gives a moulting hen rich, red blood and a red comb. It contains Internal Antiseptics that destroy disease germs that may be lurking in the system.

No disease where Pan-a-ce-a is fed

Pan-a-ce-a helps your poultry to stay at par during the moult. They don't become run-down, pale and thin.
